DOCTORS FIGHTING TO SAVE CHILD'S LIFE

Mother Gives Babies Poison So They Would Not Grow Up to Lives of Toll.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 23.—Doctors are waging a desperate fight today to save four-year-old Margaret Brown and her baby sister, Dorothy, ten months old, whose mother, Mrs. H. H. Brown, poisoned them because she feared they would grow up to a life of toil such as she has lived. The babies each had a fighting chance for life today.

At the county jail, where Mrs. Brown was brought from her ranch home in the Antelope valley, the woman confessed, according to the officers, that she mixed rat poison with cocoa she prepared for Margaret's breakfast. After the little girl had drunk her cup, the baby was given its share in a nursing bottle. The rat poison idea, the woman said, occurred to her when she witnessed the easy death of a puppy which had taken a solution prepared for rats.

"After I gave the babies their poison," the officers say Mrs. Brown explained, "I mixed some for myself and sat down with the children in my arms to await the end. After they had died, I intended to drink it and follow them, but my husband came home and took them away to the doctor."

Brown said that he found his wife holding the children and crying softly. Both the little ones were unconscious. He said that Mrs. Brown had acted queerly for several months. He believes she was temporarily deranged. The woman told the officers that she toiled early and late on her husband's ranch, and could stand it no longer when he brought his sister and her six children to the ranch yesterday for a long visit.

$6,000 PRICE OF FINGER.

Seattle, Wash., May 23.—Six thousand dollars was the price of a woman's little finger named in a judgment awarded by Superior Judge A. W. Frater today in a damage suit of L. L. Valentine, a Chicago furniture dealer, and his wife, Anna, against the Northern Pacific railroad company. The case was settled by stipulation after three years' litigation.

Mrs. Valentine's little finger was crushed in a Pullman car door on a trip from Portland to Seattle in April, 1911, and amputation was caused.

STARTS HUNGER STRIKE.

Seattle, Wash., May 23.—Because state's attorneys are holding him in jail as a witness against two men accused of robbing him of $235, A. L. Reetz, a mill worker, has started a "hunger strike."

Reetz has not eaten since Friday and declares that he will starve himself if he is not allowed his liberty. He says he will show up as a witness if he is let out of jail.

CLOVER CROP IS A MINT

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR AN EXCEPTIONALLY HEAVY YIELD
—GOOD SEED IN DEMAND.

H. O. White, of firm of D. A. White & Sons, has just returned from a trip inspecting the crops of Polk and Yamhill counties, covering the country from McMinnville to Sheridan and the Independence and Dallas districts. He reports the crops the finest he ever saw, and he has been over this part of the valley many times. All grain is in first-class shape, and under proper weather conditions will make the largest crop in recent years.

Mr. White, who is an authority on the growing of clover, was especially interested in the clover crop and reports that it came through the winter in first-class shape and stands very heavy.

"Farmers were busy clipping it back for a seed crop, and the valley promises the largest clover seed crop in its history," said he.

"With a fair price, this crop should bring in at least two million dollars this season, besides the great benefit to the land from growing clover, as it always means extra large crops of grain the following year."

"The farmers of this part of the valley are taking great care to produce fancy seed, and many go over their fields and pull out the weeds by hand in order to insure their seed being clean."

"Oregon clover seed has the reputation of being the highest grade seed grown in the United States, and the farmers are doing their best to keep up the reputation by producing the finest seed possible."

"One farmer stated that he had over 1,000 bushels of seed last season, and that it brought him about $10 per bushel, and he is certainly a great friend of clover as a paying crop."

"While many held their seed and did not obtain such a good price, there has been a good demand for all the seed, and those who still have it on hand have had numerous chances to move it at good prices that would have paid them large profits if they had sold at the right time, rather than speculate on their crop."

"Clover is bound to be a paying crop here, and if the farmers will select their seed and only sow the very best, they will find it very profitable to grow. Of course, those that persist in seeding with the screenings will have hard work in selling their seed, as in these days of pure seed laws, only the good seed is in demand."

REBELS HAVE SALTILLO.

Saltillo, May 23.—The constitutionalists were in full possession of Saltillo today. There was some skirmishing even after the federals' main body evacuated the city but today it was all over. General Palbo Robles of General Villa's force occupied the central plaza at noon Friday.

Before leaving, the federals dynamited and burned the casino, theatre, cathedral and most important business and public buildings. They left behind them, however, quantities of artillery, ammunition and other military supplies, which the rebels seized at once. They were badly needed for the continuation of the constitutionalist campaign.

LIGHTSHIP IS LOST.

Halifax, N. S., May 23.—A new lightship, bound here from the yards where it was built, was lost today just outside Halifax harbor. It was feared several men on board drowned.

REBELS TO MEET HUERTA
ONLY ON BATTLEFIELD

Constitutionalists Will Not Go to Niagara Falls While Huertistas Are There, Says Vasconcelos.

New York, May 23.—If Jose Vasconcelos' views are fairly representative of the Mexican rebels, it did not look much today as if the constitutionalists would be represented at the Niagara Falls mediation negotiations.

Vasconcelos has been on a financial mission for General Carranza to Montreal. When the report gained currency that the constitutionalist leader might send an envoy to Niagara it was intimated that Vasconcelos probably would be chosen. Today he was here.

"The only place for General Carranza or his representatives to meet General Huerta or his representatives," he said, when questioned concerning the mediation proposition, "is on the battle field, so long as the Huertistas are at Niagara Falls the constitutionalists will not go there."

REBELS LANDING TROOPS.
Veracruz, Mex., May 23.—General Aguilar, a rebel leader, was landing troops from Tampico at Punto Del Gado today. From Punto Del Gado a federal force was only six miles distant. Consequently there seemed a stant. Consequently there seemed a stant. Consequently there seemed a stant.

The boats which carried the rebels from Tampico to Punto Del Gado fell into the constitutionalists' hands when they captured the former city. A number of yachts, launches and other craft were in the Panuco river at the time and General Gonzales promptly commandeered them.

None of the vessels was of much value for fighting purposes but they answered excellently as transports.
